

Building Blocks of Self-Advocacy with Sandee Koski

Wednesday, January 26
10 am -11:30 am

Families have a unique opportunity to support self-advocacy. Supporting youth and young adults with disabilities to develop and use self-advocacy skills can have a positive impact throughout their life.

This workshop will provide participants a framework for encouraging self-advocacy.

- The importance of knowing their disability
- Expressing their thoughts
- Knowing their rights

Who should attend?

Families with a teen or young adult with disabilities or learning challenges, school staff, other community members
