Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS) is not a specific program, but a framework for organizing instruction, intervention, and supports to meet the academic, behavioral, social, and emotional needs of all learners. In this session, participants will explore what MTSS is, why it matters, and how students with disabilities fit within an integrated MTSS framework.

Participants will be introduced to the Bridging Special Education and MTSS guidance document and explore connections among MTSS, Data-Based Individualization, and Specially Designed Instruction.

MiMTSS joins us to explore:

- What is MTSS & why it is important
- MTSS and special education
- Myths & best practices
- How MiMTSS supports schools across Michigan

Who should attend?
